Yesterday was an exciting day as the date was 02.02.2020. This makes it one of the few dates that can be read the same forwards as backwards, making it a palindrome. The last date like this was 909 years ago!

When will the next palindromic date be?
Can you think of any other dates which would be palindromes?

Palindromes in words are more well known. Words like 'racecar' or 'refer' and phrases like "A man, a plan, a canal – Panama", "Madam, I'm Adam" and "Never odd or even."

Can you create your own palindrome? We'd love to share them!

Congratulations & well done to Bryher and Tonsley.

Bryher took part in an annual 5km run at Lands End; beating her time from the year before and coming 5th out of her age group. Tonsley took part in the PZ Tennis tournament winning all his matches receiving a medal.

In assembly today we were discussing our learning adventure in life.....and smiling at yourself thinking about your inner weather report. We talked through 3 strategies to help us when things are challenging. Your inner weather depends greatly on you. The sun will be there if only you let it shine. Thank you—Sue Smith
