Dear Families

The unfinished and never sent newsletter last week started with the words "We were so pleased to welcome everyone back to school this week". Unfortunately, last week ended abruptly on Thursday at 2pm when we asked all families to collect their children early so we could prepare for storm Goretti. We never thought that we wouldn't be seeing the children again until this Thursday! So, we have been pleased to welcome the children back from extended breaks twice in two weeks!

We were expecting to be finishing this week with a lantern parade, which would have been a fantastic way of us all getting back together again after Christmas and storm Goretti. Health and safety must come first and we had to cancel because the school is still dealing with the aftermath of the storm. We really must run this event next year!

Thank you all for your cooperation before and after the storm. Thank for especially to Rene and Peter for your very welcome help.

Did you spot the new face at school? We are delighted that Millie Brolly has joined us as a temporary Teaching Assistant.

We are hoping things get back to normal next week - clubs start again on Monday.

Wishing you a peaceful weekend
