Dear Families

What a week, what a year!

We thought last year's St Levanbury couldn't be matched - it was! What a fantastic occasion. The performances were brilliant, the paella was delicious, the atmosphere was fantastic - even the weather was kind to us. Thank you so much Richard for organising a festival that perfectly embodies the St Levan spirit and values. Thanks also to Terry for the marquee, Vickie and Tristan for the food and furniture, Ruth for the stage, Mr Chalwin and Martin for stepping in on the sound desk, Rachel Maisey (who wasn't there) but guided the children to such great performances and to all the performers for putting on such a great show. Thanks also to everyone for coming - a great audience makes a huge difference to a performance.

The celebration assembly - maybe you laughed, maybe you cried, maybe a bit of both. It was lovely!

Special thanks to the people who have come in every week to help us this year: Erika Shadrack, Sarah Shaw, Ashley Lambert and Richard Blackborow.

Finally, thank you to the people who have contributed over the year to our many special events. All those cups of tea and scones!

All of you contribute so much to make our school so special - together, you make St Levan SHINE!

Over the summer:

Poem for our Year 6 Leavers – 2025

TTE

He calculates sums in a blink of an eye,
While Mario zooms and the Pokémon fly.
His stories are epic, hilarious, bold—
And his limbo expertise is gold!

Our prediction for the future: we think you'll be a train driver speeding ahead,
With a thousand new plotlines whirring in your head!

AL

She's full of big energy, sparkle and flair,
With Primark bags bursting and little notes everywhere!
She knows every trend, every Squishmallow name,
And leaves us all grinning — she's top of her game.

Our prediction for the future: We think you'll be an influencer, totally boss—and you'll run a whole high street and own all the shops!

SA

So gentle, so thoughtful, with kindness to spare,
She'd share all her paints and the sun in her hair.
She dreams of a cottage with ivy and cats,
And knows all the names of the trees and the plants.

Our prediction for the future: You'll be an artist whose work makes things grow,
With a garden of peace and a heart full of glow.

AS

She's quiet, yet dazzling and facts fill her mind—
She's helpful, reliable, caring and kind.
She always remembers (she never forgets!)
Says "sorry" a lot and has quite a few pets.

Our prediction for the future: You'll be a physicist, starry and wise,
Or an astronaut calmly off mapping the skies.

HT

She flips through the air and then crafts like a queen—
With felt or with thread or a backstage scene.
She can act, she brings fun, she can sculpt, she can spin—
And always, with Holly, you're in for a grin.

Our prediction for the future: You'll be a creator who leaps through the air,
And macramés a future with flair beyond flair.

CH

So kind it's ridiculous — heart made of gold,
A friend to the shy and the brave and the bold.
He's clever with code and with printed 3D,
And plays with everyone — naturally.

Our prediction for the future: You'll be a designer who quietly beams,
Building engines and worlds and inclusive teams.

SB

She strums on her guitar with calm, steady grace,
A quiet resilience lighting her face.
She soaks up her stories, remembers them well,
With courage and heart you can already tell.

Our prediction for the future: You'll be a songwriter, strong and sincere,
With lyrics that linger and rhythms to hear.

FB

She sketches new worlds with a thoughtful hand,
Where magic and shadows and elegance stand.
She plays the violin, quiet and true,
With humour and style shining right through.

Our prediction for the future: You'll be a fashion designer with flair,
Creating dark beauty with boldness and care.

So now it's goodbye, but in no way the end—
Each one of you goes as a learner, a friend.
From Pokémon, art to guitars and macramé,
You've lit up our classroom in so many fab ways.
So Year 6 — go shine, go dream, go explore—
And remember you'll always be a huge part of our school.
